Artificial Intelligence in Today’s Litigation

Banner Witcoff’s Christian Wolfgram will join a panel at the Artificial Intelligence in the Law conference on April 1, 2025, in New York City.

The panel, Artificial Intelligence in Today’s Litigation, will examine recent trends in AI-related lawsuits, including cases involving algorithmic discrimination, intellectual property disputes, data privacy violations, and liability for AI-driven products. Christian and his co-panelists will discuss legal arguments, early court interpretations, and strategies for navigating uncertainty in AI litigation.

Find more information by clicking here.