John P. Iwanicki comments on Supreme Court arguments in Life Technologies v. Promega in Medical Device Daily

John P. Iwanicki discusses how the Supreme Court will approach the question of whether a single genetic testing kit component is sufficient to meet the test of a “substantial portion” of a potentially infringing article in the Medical Device Daily article, “Bright-Line Test in Promega Seen as a No-Go.”

Click here to read the article (subscription required).

Posted: December 8, 2016