Robert S. Katz moderates “Online Enforcement Panel” at 2018 USPTO Design Day in Alexandria, Va.

April 25, 2018

Robert S. Katz will serve as the moderator for the “Online Enforcement Panel” at the 2018 U.S. Patent and Trademark Office Design Day in Alexandria, Va. The panel will discuss infringements that have moved to online platforms, why it’s so difficult to stop infringements and their potential impact on the economy.

Several other Banner & Witcoff attorneys who focus on design patent prosecution and litigation will attend Design Day. As recently announced, these attorneys helped register 1,424 U.S. design patents in 2017 – the most registered by any law firm in the country.

Design Day is co-sponsored by the USPTO, American Intellectual Property Law Association, American Bar Association Section of Intellectual Property Law, Intellectual Property Owners Association, Industrial Designers Society of America, International Trademark Association and International Association for the Protection of Intellectual Property.
