Robert S. Katz provides update on legal issues around 3D printing and scanning technology for Design Management Review

Robert S. Katz provides an updated discussion on how creators can protect themselves against virtual design theft through design patent, trademark and copyright laws in the December 2016 issue of Design Management Review.

Click here to read the article, “Modern Infringements: The Unsavory Side of 3D Printing and Digital Replicas.” A preview is available, but purchase is required to view the full article.

Posted: December 31, 2016