

AI for Everyone – The Definitive Guide for Harnessing This Tool

Banner Witcoff's Janet Lee will join a panel on artificial intelligence (AI) during The Activation Summit for Women Lawyers on February 11 and 12 in Honolulu.

The panel will discuss how AI can be incorporated into a practice, when to use it, where it is best applied, for what to look out, and the current anticipated future in AI law. The session will also explore how lawyers who may not be “tech” lawyers can best responsibly utilize, apply, and participate in any regulation of AI technology.

According to its website, “The Activation Summit for Women Lawyers (and Their Friends and Allies) will bring together lawyers, judges, and law students to examine these challenges through a professional lens, share strategies for effective advocacy and leadership, and develop tools to engage productively—both within organizations and in the broader community.”

More information about the summit can be found here.