Banner Witcoff Supports Virginia Tech Student Startup Incubator

Banner Witcoff is proud to support the Virginia Tech CS/root Student Startup Incubator, an entrepreneurship program that helps Virginia Tech computer science students develop and launch new business ideas.

Students participate in the program for either a full year or a half-semester, focusing on business planning and product development. They receive guidance from an advisory board composed of Virginia Tech computer science alumni, who provide feedback on their progress and product pitches twice per semester. Banner Witcoff shareholder Scott Kelly serves on the advisory board.

For more information on the Virginia Tech CS/root Student Startup Incubator, click here.

Posted: April 8, 2025