Banner Witcoff's Eric Hamp Analyzes Patent Enforcement Against Foreign Infringers of Patented Processes in Reuters

Attorney Eric Hamp recently analyzed enforcing U.S. process patent rights against entities in foreign countries for Reuters. The article, "Enforcing Patents Against Foreign Infringers of Patented Processes," dives into the nuances of 35 U.S.C. § 271(g) and its ability to allow patentees to target foreign producers, downstream importers and sellers, and others that benefit from products made from processes patented in the United States. The article also identifies patent claim drafting strategies and litigation approaches that can enhance the strength of a patentee's position under § 271(g).
