Bradley J. Van Pelt and Alisa S. Abbott write article on recent case law related to design patent applications for Law360

Bradley J. Van Pelt and Alisa S. Abbott examine two recent cases that have provided clarity on the consequences related to filing multiple embodiments in a design application, and the consequences related to filing only a single view in a design application for Law360.

Click here to read the article, “Clarifying Multi-Embodiment And Single-View Design Filings.”

Posted: December 17, 2018