Darrell G. Mottley discusses 3-D printing on KUCI radio program

September 3, 2013

Mr. Mottley discusses the development of 3-D printing and the role intellectual property plays in the industry on KUCI's "The Docket" with Evan Simon. In the interview, he touches on the use of patents, design patents and trademarks; the significance of the useful article doctrine in copyright; virtual models and potential liability issues.

KUCI 88.9 FM is a public radio station that broadcasts from the University of California, Irvine.

Please click here to listen to the interview.

Posted: September 9, 2013