Michael S. Cuviello and Adam J. College discuss the USPTO's proposed changes to post-grant proceedings in World Intellectual Property Review

Michael S. Cuviello and Adam J. College examine the pros and cons of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office's proposed changes to the Patent Trial and Appeal Board's post-issuance proceedings in World Intellectual Property Review.

In the article, Mr. Cuviello and Mr. College specifically consider one of these proposed changes – permitting a single judge, instead of the current three-judge panel, to determine whether to institute inter partes review, post-grant review and covered business method proceedings.

Please click here to read the article (subscription required).

Posted: November 5, 2015