Applications Due Jan. 6: Donald W. Banner Diversity Fellowship

Banner Witcoff has opened the application process for the 2020 program of the Donald W. Banner Diversity Fellowship. First- and second-year law students can submit applications now through Jan. 6, 2020.

Created to strengthen diversity and inclusion in the field of intellectual property law, the fellowship provides 1L and 2L students with the opportunity to participate in the firm's summer associate program and $5,000 for law school tuition or other school-related expenses. Recipients who accept full-time positions with Banner Witcoff receive an additional $5,000 financial award.

The fellowship is open to 1L and 2L students who attend an ABA-accredited law school in the United States and identify as members of a historically underrepresented group in intellectual property law or possess a demonstrated commitment to strengthening diversity and inclusion in the legal profession.

Applicants also must meet other criteria, including academic merit, a commitment to the pursuit of a career in the field, an interest in a career at Banner Witcoff, and demonstrated leadership qualities and community involvement.

To be considered, applicants must submit a completed application form to Jennifer Lee at jlee@bannerwitcoff.com, along with their resume, academic transcripts, legal writing sample (five-10 pages), and one-page statement describing how diversity has influenced the applicants' decision to pursue a legal career or how they will help increase diversity in the field of IP law.

Donald W. Banner (1924-2006) — the namesake of the fellowship and firm — was a leader in the field of patent law.
