Richard S. Stockton discusses the benefits and complexities of the Hague System in the Chicago Daily Law Bulletin

Mr. Stockton discusses how the Hague System for the International Registration of Industrial Designs compares to the Patent Cooperation Treaty, why the United States will benefit from joining the treaty and what challenges practitioners may need to overcome in the Chicago Daily Law Bulletin.

Please click here to read the article, “An international one-stop shop for design patents.”

Posted: May 21, 2015