Robert S. Katz discusses the legal issues around 3D printing and scanning technology in Design Management Review

Mr. Katz discusses how creators can protect themselves against virtual design theft through design patent, trademark and copyright laws in the December 2015 issue of Design Management Review.

Please click here to read the article, “Modern Infringements: The Unsavory Side of 3D Printing and Digital Replicas.” A preview is available, but purchase is required to view the full article.

Posted: November 25, 2015