

Ross Dannenberg and Hengyi Jiang's Visit to Tsinghua University Law School

On June 21, 2024, Ross Dannenberg and Hengyi Jiang presented at Tsinghua University Law School in Beijing, China. Ross and Hengyi spoke at length about patent and copyright developments in the US regarding the use and protection of artificial intelligence technologies, and provided insights in how two recent design patent law cases from US courts will impact design patent practice in the United States.

Professor Ge Jiang of Tsinghua University Law School hosted the event, including the presentation as well as a panel discussion and Q&A session moderated by Mr. Jing He, the founder of GEN Law in Beijing, China. The audience included law students, graduate students, in-house and private practice lawyers from around Beijing, and multiple patent examiners from the China Intellectual Property Administration (CNIPA).
