Scott Kelly Presents at The Sedona Conference on AI and the Law

Banner Witcoff's Scott Kelly will present at The Sedona Conference on AI and the Law, Part 2: AI and IP Law from Thursday, June 20 to Friday, June 21 in Reston, Virginia.

Scott and his co-speakers will present "Challenges to the Patent Law System Presented by AI." The session will discuss how AI may impact the delicate balance between innovation and the incentives to seek patent protection, and whether the companies controlling the AI platforms could disrupt that balance further. Additionally, the speakers will explore how AI might impact the traditional validity analyses regarding Section 101 eligibility, the written description requirement, and the enablement requirement.

You can find more information on The Sedona Conference and Scott's presentation by clicking here.