The Federal Circuit's Redesign of Design Patent Law: For Better or Worse?

Banner Witcoff's Rob Katz will speak at the 70th Annual Intellectual Property, Information & Privacy Law Conference on Friday, November 6 at the University of Chicago School of Law.

Rob will be a panelist during "The Federal Circuit's Redesign of Design Patent Law: For Better or Worse?" session.

According to its website, The 70th Annual Intellectual Property, Information & Privacy Law Conference provides an exceptional opportunity to meet with newsmakers and influencers, to learn and discuss the most exciting and important developments in the field, and to be empowered to help create better laws and policies that promote innovation, creativity, and entrepreneurship.

Registration is available for in-person and virtual attendance. More information can be found here.