The Next Phase of Electric Vehicle Charging Innovation | Insights from Justin Philpott

Banner Witcoff Shareholder Justin Philpott recently spoke with Parola Analytics on how electric vehicle (EV) charging is evolving, sharing his perspective on the technological and commercial developments shaping the sector.

Justin, who has previously written about EV charging infrastructure and patent trends, discusses how the market has changed over the past few years and whether the decline in patent activity reflects a slowdown in innovation, a shift in technological priorities, or the growing maturation of the EV charging ecosystem.

Find the full article by clicking here.

Posted: July 7, 2026