Timothy C. Meece comments on the future of the “rocket docket” in Managing Intellectual Property

February 1, 2009

Mr. Meece speculates in a Managing Intellectual Property article, that there will be a return to pre-1999 levels of patent filings in the Eastern District of Texas, noting that they are already down over fifty percent after the Volkswagen case.

Posted: February 1, 2009