Banner Witcoff Duo Explores the Future of Agriculture Patents for Law360

Banner Witcoff's Erik Maurer and Alex Bruening explore how lessons from the pharmaceutical industry may influence agriculture patent reform, as competition and innovation for food production increase.

The article dives into the similarities between the agriculture and pharmaceutical industries, examines whether pharmaceutical-type patent reforms might be leveraged to reduce fertilizer and seed costs and explains some current legislative approaches.

Read the full article on Law360, here.

Posted: August 5, 2022