Charles W. Shifley writes article on whether the Wright Brothers' patent would survive today's patent laws for the Journal of the Patent and Trademark Office Society

Charles W. Shifley explores whether the Wright Brothers' patent for a "flying machine" would survive today's patent laws in an article for the 100th edition of the Journal of the Patent and Trademark Office Society.

Click here to read the article.

Posted: May 31, 2018