Darrell G. Mottley comments on opening law school admissions to GRE test takers in DC Bar News

Darrell G. Mottley comments on opening law school admissions to GRE test takers in DC Bar News.

In the article, “Law School Admissions: Is It Time to Drop the LSAT?” Mr. Mottley says the move “would create a pool of students that is more reflective of the diverse society, from low-income students to those who switch professions later in life.”

Click here to read the article.

Posted: September 6, 2017