Marc S. Cooperman writes article on changes to discovery in Northern District of Illinois in Law360

Marc S. Cooperman examines the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Illinois' new Mandatory Initial Discovery program in the article, "In Other IP Venue News … A Change In Northern Illinois."

The program, which goes into effect on June 1, will front-load discovery by requiring early and expanded mandatory disclosures in comparison to the current initial disclosures.

Click here to read the article.

Posted: May 30, 2017