Rob Katz and Alisa Abbott Author U.S. Chapter for Global Designs Guide

Banner Witcoff attorneys Robert Katz and Alisa Abbott examined the intricacies of U.S. design law for a global guide on design rights.

The guide — "Lexology Getting the Deal Through: Designs 2021" — provides insight into the protection, commercialization and enforcement of design rights in jurisdictions around the world.

Rob and Alisa authored the chapter on U.S. design law, in which they detail key criteria for the protection of designs, registration and opposition procedures, grounds for infringment claims, available remedies and other issues involving licensing of rights in the United States. They both have extensive experience representing clients in various design matters.

Click here to read their chapter. The full guide is available to subscribers on Lexology's website.

Banner Witcoff is a leader in design law, obtaining more U.S. design patents than any other firm in the country for 17 years in a row. To learn more about our team of seasoned attorneys and their capabilities and experience in this space, click here.

Posted: January 12, 2021